Rcm1: I went to Clean and Free by the Sea in Ocean Shores and was able to attend a literature review and input workshop on Chapter 3 of the Living Clean Project. I also attended the CAR Workshop while I was there. I sent out a few emails to groups this month about the CAR Motiions and had a great response from them. If for some reason you did not get emails then please make sure that the secretary has your current email address. This was a very busy month and I would like to thank those groups that invited me out to their group consience to help them be more informed on the Conference Agenda Repot and the 14 motions that they will be voting on today. I know that an informed body will be of benefit to Narcotics Anonymous. Announcements: Chapters 3, 4 and 5 of the Living Clean Project are out for review you can download them at www.naws.org remember that this is how new literature is approved. It is written by members, reviewed by members, and approved by members, so your input is welcomed. Also Unity day is in Seattle April 3 workshops are free all day. You can register still for food and the dance. Yours in loving service,Blair RCM1

Details @ www.WNIR-NA.org and click on regional events link on left. Other than that I plan on not submitting a WPS area report next month @ the C&E meeting as there is nothing to report here thataffects the C&E Sub committee. Yours in Service, Bonner s.
